ORDER FORM

PREFACE

This edition of the Catalogue of Publications and Products lists titled products released by the Australian Bureau of Statistics (ABS) between 1 January 1993 and 31 December 1996, and those expected to be released during 1997. The Catalogue is also available on floppy disk, can be accessed through the ABS Internet site <http://www.abs.gov.au> and as part of the Statistical Concepts Reference Library on CD-ROM.

The Catalogue is the primary reference to statistical information published from ABS collections. It provides reference information such as product title and reference year, and also provides a brief description of the content of each product. The release medium of the product — printed publication, floppy disk, CD-ROM or on-line service — is also indicated.

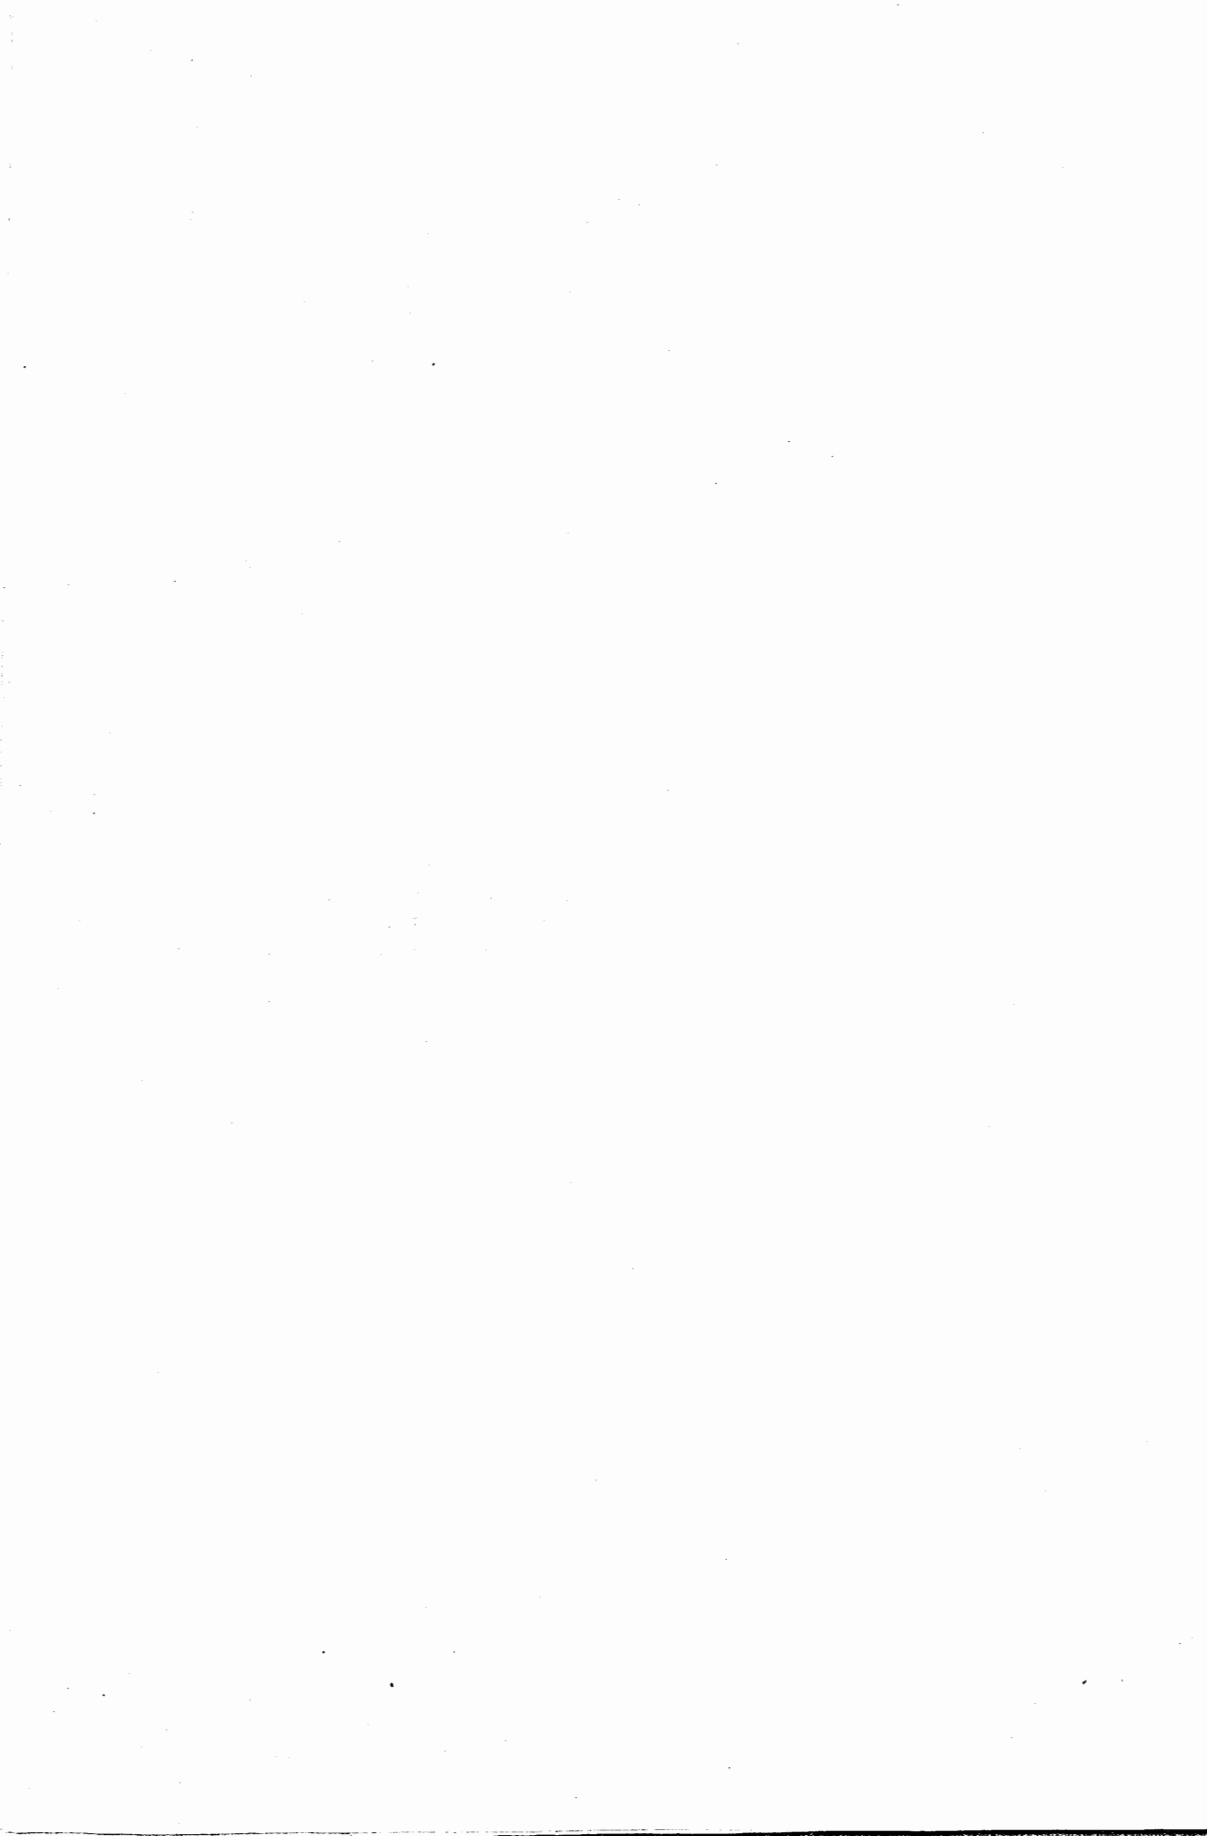

Most ABS data are available in computer readable form and access to over 100,000 time series is available through the PC Ausstats service (see page 3 for details).

The ABS also offers a number of consultancy services, ranging from answers to simple statistical inquiries to the provision of detailed statistical analysis and survey design (see page 3 for details).

Suggestions for improvements to the Catalogue, or queries on matters not itemised in detail such as the availability of data on special interest topics and unpublished statistics, should be directed to Information Inquiries in any ABS office. The addresses and phone numbers of ABS offices are shown on the back cover.

INTRODUCTION

The Australian Bureau of Statistics (ABS) is Australia's official statistical organisation. Its main function is to provide government and the community with an efficient, user-oriented national statistical service.

THE CATALOGUE OF PUBLICATIONS AND PRODUCTS

The Catalogue of Publications and Products 1997 refers to titled products which the ABS has issued since 1 January 1993 or expects to release during 1997. In some cases, for example where products are part of a current series, information on earlier issues has been included.

The Catalogue is divided into four parts.

Part 1 — Services

This describes the various services provided by the ABS.

Part 2 — National products

This part comprises a list of products that provide information referring to the whole of Australia. Many national products contain separate statistics for States and Territories as components of Australian totals, and can be used for comparing State figures. Products are arranged in sequence by ABS catalogue numbers. (See page xii for an explanation of ABS Catalogue numbers.)

Part 3 — State and Territory products

This is a list of products that provide information about a particular State or Territory. These products contain more detailed information than is provided in similar national publications, and in some cases they provide a finer geographic breakdown. Products are arranged in sequence by ABS Catalogue number after being separated into State/Territory as indicated by the fifth digit of the number. (See page xii for an explanation of the ABS Catalogue number.)

Part 4 — Indexes

This Part is divided into separate lists:

Directories, catalogues and guides

A comprehensive listing of directories, catalogues and guides issued by the ABS on particular topics can be found on page 313.

Information and technical papers

This index contains a listing of information and technical papers produced by the ABS on the availability, collection and format of statistics. They are listed on pages 314–315.

Occasional papers

Occasional papers are prepared by individual ABS officers and provide accounts of ABS development or research work, and analyses of an experimental nature. These papers are listed on page 316.

Releases by medium

A number of releases are available from the ABS on floppy disk, CD-ROM, microfiche, magnetic tape or cartridge. Indexes to each format can be found on pages 317–328.

Feature articles

A list of feature articles which have been published in ABS publications since 1 January 1993 is included on pages 329–333. Feature articles appear in some publications frequently and in others only occasionally. They examine statistical issues of particular interest or complexity in a more detailed manner than would normally be warranted.

Census products

For convenience, all 1996 Census of Population and Housing products are listed together in catalogue number order. The list appears on pages 334–342.

Titles

This index comprises a complete list of publication and product titles in alphabetic order. It appears on pages 343–375.

Subject index

This index lists ABS publications and products that are available pertaining to a specific subject of interest. While the most significant references for Australian and State Year Books (1300.0–1300.6) and pocket Year Books (1302.0–1302.6) are given in this index, each of these publications contains a more detailed index of its own.

The balancing of public good obligations and user pays underpins the ABS pricing policy. Prices quoted in this Catalogue are for individual copies and are subject to revision. Annual subscription rates include postage and packaging charges.

COPYRIGHT

All ABS products are protected by copyright and are subject to the provisions of the Copyright Act 1968. Apart from any use as permitted under the Act, no part of any publication or other product may be reproduced without written permission. In all cases the ABS must be acknowledged as the source when reproducing or quoting any part of an ABS publication or other product.

INFORMATION ON ABS RELEASES

To supplement this Catalogue, the ABS produces a monthly publication Publications Issued in [name of month] (1102.0), and a twice weekly Release Advice (1105.0).

The Release Advice is produced on Tuesdays and Fridays and gives titles of all ABS publications expected to be released in the next few days. The last issue of the Release Advice each month also contains a list of main economic indicator publications expected to be released during the following month. Information on expected releases is also available through the ABS on-line service, PC Ausstats.

THE ABS CATALOGUE NUMBERING SYSTEM

The system consists of a five digit or 10 digit code.

Five digit code

Printed publications usually have a five digit code.

- The first digit defines a broad subject group as follows:

- | | |
|---|--|
| 1 | General |
| 2 | Census of Population and Housing |
| 3 | Demography |
| 4 | Social Statistics |
| 5 | National Accounts, International Trade and Finance |
| 6 | Labour Statistics and Prices |
| 7 | Agriculture |
| 8 | Secondary Industry and Distribution |
| 9 | Transport, Tourism |

- The second digit specifies a subgroup of the broad subject group. Refer to the Contents on page iii for details of the subgroups.
- The third and fourth digits are serial numbers which are permanently allocated to publications within categories formed by the first two digits. An allotted number will remain unchanged provided the contents of a publication remain essentially the same.

- The fifth digit, after the full stop, represents the State or Territory covered by the statistics. The codes for each State and Territory are:

0	Australia
1	New South Wales
2	Victoria
3	Queensland
4	South Australia
5	Western Australia
6	Tasmania
7	Northern Territory
8	Australian Capital Territory
9	External Territories

Products containing Australia-wide information (fifth digit 0) are listed in Part 2 — National products, pages 7–170. Products containing information pertaining to a specific State or Territory (fifth digit 1–9) are listed in Part 3 — State and Territory products, pages 171–309.

Example: ABS Catalogue No. 3311.2

1st digit:	3	=	Demography
2nd digit:	3	=	Vital Statistics
3rd & 4th digits:	11	=	Serial numbers
5th digit:	2	=	Victoria
Title of Publication		=	Demography, Victoria.

This product is listed in Part 3 — States and Territory, page 200.

Ten digit code

Products released in a medium other than a printed format have a ten digit code with the sixth and seventh digits together indicating the medium of release. For a list of ABS products released on CD-ROM, floppy disk, magnetic tape or microfiche refer to pages 317–328.

NOTE: For convenience of users, some products that have a multi-subject or multi-State focus have been listed in all the relevant sections of the Catalogue.

Example: 6201.1 Labour Force, New South Wales and Australian Capital Territory is listed in two sections, i.e. Australian Capital Territory (page 304) and New South Wales (page 186).

1. SERVICES

Statistical Consultancy

ABS Statistical Consultancy provides a tailored service to clients whose needs cannot be met from existing ABS data.

Consultants are involved in developing and designing questionnaires for client surveys which involves researching the subject area and speaking to key stakeholders. Questionnaires are designed to forms design standards.

Statistical Consultancy also undertakes sample selection for clients, analyses survey data and applies mathematical statistical techniques such as regression analysis, quality control and hypothesis testing. High quality reports are produced for clients incorporating graphs, tables and written commentary.

The section is also involved in qualitative research, including conducting focus groups.

ABS statistical consultants present training courses to external clients in survey design, sampling techniques, and data analysis.

The ongoing work of the area includes the conduct of the State Supplementary Survey and the production of figures for Estimated Resident Population.

A CD-ROM product that allows desktop analysis of 1991 Census data for small areas e.g. Collection District, SLA, etc. CDATE91 contains community profile data: basic, expanded, working population, usual residents, Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander, and the time series. 2722.0 1991 Census — Community Profiles, Australia*Price on application*

Comprises census data for all geographic areas, from Collection Districts (CDs) to total Australia. Each community profile is a set of tables containing key census characteristics of persons, families and dwellings, covering most topics on the census form.

Explanatory notes and footnotes are included with each community profile.

The basic community profile provides 58 tables for all census areas for CD to total Australia, including postcode. The basic community profile replaces the '7 page' small format released from the 1986 Census of Population and Housing, and contains about 70% more data.

The expanded community profile provides 44 tables and is available for Statistical Local Areas (SLAs) and all other census geographic areas, except for CDs, CD-derived suburbs, postcodes and rural localities. The working population profile contains 17 tables of labour force and related data on the characteristics of people who work in SLAs within the journey to work study area — usually capital cities.

The time series community profile contains approximately 22 tables from the basic and expanded profiles comparing data from the 1981, 1986 and 1991 Census of Population and Housing where the classifications are comparable. It is available for SLAs and aggregates of SLAs.

The usual residents community profile contains approximately 25 tables based on the usual residents of SLAs.

The Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people community profile contains 29 tables based on the basic community profile. PROTAB is an alternative means of access to social survey data for clients who do not have access to a confidentialised unit record file, or for whom a unit record file does not have sufficient detail.

PROTAB is PC-based software, supplied on floppy disk. It operates on IBM-compatible PCs with DOS 3.3 or better and has on-line help facilities.

PROTAB allows you to browse the full listing of data from ABS social surveys, select individual items of interest, and produce unambiguous specifications for the production of customised reports. The client then faxes or posts these specifications to the ABS from which the report is generated. Reports can be on paper or in electronic form to suit client's spreadsheet or publication packages.

In most cases the report should be available within 48 hours.

PROTAB assists users by:

- displaying all data items and their classifications;
- displaying a cost estimate;
- checking client specifications;
- checking for allowable data item combinations;
- user-specification of new data items; and
- keyword searching for required data items.
